Fruit and vegetable produce near me

If you are looking for healthy, fresh food, grown locally there are more options than ever before. This website helps you find the type of farm market you are looking for, in your own local area; whether there is a farm house, a courtyard sold from the farm or just a roadside stand as long as it is fresh and locally produced. You can find farm markets that grow locally, grow organically, offer sustainable agriculture or the type of fruits, vegetables and other products you want. Our lists come from a variety of sources: state agriculture departments, consumers writing in recommending a market or farm stand, and the farmer's own. We update and add listings every day. Since this website just went live in March 2009, we are adding listings at a tremendous pace! It should take us a few months to get up to a pretty complete set of lists. Of course, we're looking for more farm markets to add, so we welcome your recommendations!! Customers can recommend a farm here and farmers can add (or update/correct) their own farm listing by clicking here! Our sister website PickYourOwn.org has crop calendars for each local area to tell you what's available to choose throughout the year and really easily illustrated the directions to show you how to make jam, jelly, salsa, pickles, spaghetti sauce, applesauce, apple butter and 150 other recipes with step by step directions to can, freeze, dry or preserve the harvest. As an Amazon Associate I earn from qualifying purchases. How to find a good, real local farmer market It's quite simple! Start by clicking the Start button here (at the top of each page or in the menu on the left). You can then select your local area (country, state/province) and then region/county or local metropolitan area. Just scroll down the page that appears to see agricultural markets listed by county. Elements of special interest, such as organic foods, food grown locally, special events are highlighted in color to make them stand out. The search engine (see button at the top of each page) can also be useful. Note: We do not consider large commercial big box food store chains like Whole Foods to be real farmer markets, although they include that in their name. Click on your state or country below to find farmers markets in your area! (Other countries are further down this page) [Alabama] [Alaska] [Arkansas] [Arizona] [California] [Colorado] [Connecticut] [Delaware] [Florida] [Georgia] [Hawaii] [Idaho] [Illinois] [Indiana] [Iowa] [Kansas] [Kentucky] [Louisiana] [Maine] [Maryland] [Massachusetts] [Michigan] [Minnesota] [Mississippi] [Missouri] [Montana] [Nebraska] [New Hampshire] [New Jersey] [New Mexico] [New York] [North Carolina] [North Dakota] [Nevada] [Ohio] [Oklahoma] [Oregon] [Pennsylvania] [Rhode Island] [South Carolina] [South Dakota] [Tennessee] [Texas] [Utah] [Vermont] [Virginia] [Washington] [West Virginia] [Wisconsin] [] [] Farm Markets Outside the United States [Australia] [Canada] [Germany] [Ireland] [Italy] [Japan] [South Africa] [New Zealand] [United Kingdom] [Adding a farm outside North America] Looking to choose your own farms in other countries? Live in another country, such as France, Italy (Italia), Germany (Deutschland), Netherlands, or Sweden? Help me draw up a list for your country - just write to me! Would you recommend an agricultural market to add? We are always looking for more farmer markets, farm stands and farm markets to add. As long as they offer fresh produce (fruit vegetables, meat, homemade goods) we welcome them. Listings are free! Which form should you use? What are the benefits of shopping at a local farmer's market? Three words sum up the benefits: local and agricultural market. Shopping locally means saving gas, which means saving money, and creating less pollution in your drive, polluting less as food doesn't have to be transported from a distance, eating fresher food, with higher vitamin levels, as less time goes from harvesting to shopping, eating tastier food; again, as less time goes from harvesting to purchasing, eat healthier food: since it doesn't have to be shipped and it will be bought faster, less (or no) fungicides are needed. Shopping at a real farmer market means you will be closer to the source of your food, get to know the farms, the farmers, the people who produce the food you eat, and put in your family's bodies. They are more likely to listen to your needs and be socially responsible than a giant ag farm in a foreign country. This soup is chock full of hardy root vegetables, nutrient-dense leafy vegetables, and antioxidant boost from many spices. It has a mild citrus flavor with a little zing from cayenne pepper. We are proud to have the opportunity to collaborate with manufacturers who also represent similar missions. Here are a few companies we work with that make a difference both locally and globally. These bright, refreshing and unique citrus fruits are a particularly fun experience when it's dark and cold outside. Learn more about kumquats, finger limes and the many other fun specialty citrus fruits we will offer over the next few months. As we settle into this new normal in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, we have been told to stay indoors or to socially distance from each other, to help minimize risk and spread. With this in mind, farm and produce box subscriptions are an ideal alternative to groceries at large chains, and a way to give back and invest in local farms. We have found six brands that bring products, protein and handpicked goods directly to your door; some work with surplus fruit, while others sell nasty vegetables that do not in stores. These companies bring fresh, seasonal goods to the fore, rescue products from landfills and make it more convenient than ever. Check out these produce box subscriptions that are available in different countries and regions, and if you've got a favorite local produce box you love, share it in the comments below! If you're looking for full meal delivery, check out our guide to organic meal kit delivery services. Environment & Ethics | Imperfect Foods is fulfilling its promise to eliminate food waste by offering high-quality products from cooperatives and small and medium-sized farmers, organic and cage-free eggs, vegetarian meat and sustainably farmed fish. Each item is individually priced, just like at a regular grocery store. All your choices can be customized to minimize waste of products you might not use, and your move comes in a compostable and reusable cardboard box. Cost & How It Works | Because you can customize your box without charge, Imperfect Foods is ideal for people who want to budget and prep their plans in advance. Prices are up to 30 percent less than large grocery stores, while still providing competitive wages for farmers. You can adjust your items up to two days before delivery, with a flat $4.99-$5.99 delivery fee for each order (free shipping for orders over $50). Delivers to | West Coast, Midwest, East Coast (See all delivery locations) Sign up for Imperfect Foods Eco & Ethics | Misfit Market finds the fresh, organic products that big stores can't sell due to scarring, profits or cosmetic stains, and ships directly to you at a lower price. Think onions that are too small, oddly shaped squash, or twisted carrots. These veggies can't sell in mass stores, so they're sent to you for the benefit of organic farmers instead. With up to 22 pounds of fresh produce coming your way, this food delivery company uses compostable plant-based bags instead of plastic, eco-friendly insulation, and recycled cardboard. Cost & How It Works | There are two options for Misfit Market subscriptions: Mischief box and Madness box, with customization options coming soon. The Mischief box contains up to 13 pounds of fresh and organic produce at a fixed rate of $22, while the Madness box is better for larger households or those on a purely plant-based diet. It includes up to 22 pounds of products for $35. Shipping is a fixed rate of $4.50-$5.50 for all delivery areas. Delivers to | East Coast & Northeast (See all delivery locations) Sign up for Misfit Market Eco & Ethics | The Farm Fresh to You team behind this second-generation family farm has been focused on organic products since 1976; 100 percent of the products are certified organically by a third party. In addition to offering pesticide-free products, the family also adheres to environmentally friendly practices, such as effective irrigation and water management, healthy and local fertilizers. Finally, most of their packaging can be reused (and the Farm Fresh team will do it for you) or reused for sustainable subscription. Cost & How It Works | Farm Fresh to You makes the process simple, without complicated contracts or obligations. Choose one of the six pre-made boxes and a size, customize with your favorite veggies and fruits, adding any agricultural products you like—like honey or coffee. Your box is then delivered directly to your door. Each box can be cancelled or suspended two days before your scheduled delivery day for maximum flexibility, and boxes run between $27–$61. Delivers to | North & Southern California (See all delivery locations) Sign up for Farm Fresh To You Eco & Ethics | Oddbox, based in the UK, ethically sources fresh produce from more than 70+ farmers and suppliers across the country. The company also pays wages that farmers themselves have deemed reasonable. By delivering overnight to minimize excessive emissions, Oddbox's agriculturally fresh fruits and vegetables arrive at the door in recycled packaging. Plus, 10 percent of the rescued products go to organizations that fight food poverty and scarcity, like City Harvest. Cost & How It Works | Oddbox offers weekly sustainable produce boxes starting at just £9.45 for seven different veggies, making it ideal for a person or couple. At the higher end, you can choose a family-sized box which saves nine veggies and four fruits—this option costs £18.49. It's always free to deliver. Delivers to | London, UK (See here) Sign up for Oddbox Eco & Ethics | Inspired by community-supported agriculture, Food Connect crafts seasonal, ethically sourced produce boxes. The team's partnerships with local farmers include fair wages as well as a shorter supply chain (and lower CO2 emissions). The family farm itself is natural and environmentally friendly: it is powered by 100 percent renewable energy, uses organic and regenerative farming methods and is GMO-free. Cost & How It Works | Food Connect can send a box of products directly to your home, or you can pick up a box at a nearby city cousin. Start with a one-time mini box for $42 AUD or go to a recurring subscription with large veggie boxes up to $55 AUD. Each week, the team shares what's in the box you've chosen so you can make the most informed decision (or request swaps due to allergies). Delivers to | Brisbane & Gold Coast, Australia (Sell all delivery locations) Sign up for Food Connect Eco & Ethics | This NYC-based organization brings farmer's market experience to the door with its organic, seasonal products, protein and groceries. The products come from GMO-free and low-spray farms, dairy products and eggs come from cage-free farms, and proteins come in a sustainable way from regional fishing and hormone-free agriculture. When they are ready to ship, local deliveries throughout the city use low-waste compostable packaging. Fifty percent of every food dollar raised goes directly farmer or small-batch maker. Cost & How It Works | Farm to People provides flexibility, with either a subscription plan or à la carte. For subscriptions, select a box of your choice from $25, $25, items you don't want, skip or cancel without fees, and await delivery to your home! Paleo, omnivore and vegetarian lifestyle are also accommodated with specific boxes. Bonus: If you have selected a box that costs more than $50, you will receive free delivery.
